The Day After

30.03.2021-30.04.2021

Seydi Murat Koç's exhibition The Day After can be viewed at Ferda Art Platform between 30.03.2021-30.04.2021. Modern urban landscapes in a dystopia where animals and plants dominate, presented to the viewer along with Koç's' own unique practice, exist with the strong synthesis that the artist makes between drawing and painting.

Using different mediums throughout the production process, Koç covers the dystopian patterns he draws with thick layers of colored paint with white impasto and draws attention to the existential struggle between nature and humanity with the opposite connection he creates between the surface and the underlying colored floor.

Presenting industrial-looking abandoned cities in the appearance of monumental tombstones, the artist highlights the dominance of nature in this universe with his figures of Anatolian endemic flowers in the exhibition. The Day After approaches the events in today's world from a critical point of view, while at the same time reminding the viewer that there will be always next day.
